$40,000 for Ignacio-Allison State Road?

Work Due to Start Immediately=Important Link In Chain of Highways

Not less than 20 thousand dollars, and very likely double that amount, is going to spent soon on State Highway No. 172—the highway that is destined to put Ignacio on the map and make Cumbres Pass accessible every day in the year.

This is the project County Commissioners John Perino and Ross Nixon went to Denver on last January, and while results were slow in materializing, now it is reasonably certain that the work necessary to complete the project will get under way immediately. In fact the preliminary work is being done. Mr. Perino stated to The Chieftain Monday that a considerable sum of money from the State gasoline tax has already accumulated for maintenance of this road, adding that "since this project is in the drought area we hope to get a sizeable sum from the FERA funds to apply on this project." And when District Federal Relief Administrator J. J. Musser was in Ignacio Wednesday afternoon he stated that

"practically all of the road construction will be done by men on Federal work relief, under the supervision of competent engineers."

State Highway No. 172 begins at Highway 160 north of Falfa, thence south to La Plata County line  $\frac{1}{2}$  mile east of Allison, taking in Oxford, Ignacio and Allison. This highway has been completed from the point of its beginning to Ignacio, and the finishing work is to be done between Ignacio and the county line. Whether the upper or lower road between Ignacio and Tiffany will be used is a question now being considered.

State District Highway Engineer J. R. Cheney, of Durango, and an engineer from the State Highway Department's Denver office are this week making the preliminary survey, and actual construction should start within two weeks, or perhaps sooner.

Considering that Ignacio has done the equivalent of nothing (except to land a few hammer blows) to get this important highway, it behooves The Chieftain to present the flowers to County Commissioners Perino and Nixon for lavishing good things upon us in spite of our stolid indifference.

When Archuleta County fills in a gap or two between Allison and Pagosa Junction, and highway improvements are made between Pagosa Junction and Lumberton, N. M., this section will have an all-year outlet over the Continental Divide to Chama.

The acquisition of this important link in the great chain of highways should mean that considerable tourist trade can be attracted this way. It is worth going after!

Will Ignacio wake up? or will Ignacio look to Sant Claus for future benefits.

With a Federal Government payroll of twelve thousand dollars per month—one hundred and forty-four thousand dollars per year—and one of the strongest, best managed and most secure interior banks in the State, this

Cue Is Overlooked

Ignacio and Pine River folk overlooked a good gesture by not having a delegation at Gallup recently to meet John Collier, commissioner of Indian Affairs, and urge him to look upon the proposed dam on Pine River, 20 miles north of Ignacio, with favor, according to Congressman Edward T. Taylor, who was in Ignacio all day Wednesday.

Mr. Taylor indicated that Mr. Collier is a "Kingfish" type of man who is thinking more of closing most Indian schools than of building dams.

John Burch, Indian policeman here went to Gallup on the occasion of Collier's visit, and invited the commissioner to visit the Ute reservation, but Collier did not come here.

Mr. Taylor said "Collier, the 'Kingfish,' is not satisfied with the desire to abolish most of the Indian schools, but has actually held up the $45,000 appropriation I got thru Congress two years ago to build a boys' dormitory at the Ignacio Indian School."

Before leaving The Chieftain office Mr. Taylor stated that "the outlook for silver is good," and when asked, "have you given any thought to the Townsend Old Age Revolving Pension Plan," he replied, "so me," ending the interview by saying, "you can rest assured that some sort of old age pensions legislation will be enacted by the 74th session of congress."

Congressman Taylor and Secretary High were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Aspaas, Wednesday noon, and during the afternoon Mr. Aspaas escorted the venerable congressman about

Agency and School

BY MELLIE P. DANIELS

The School employees are all busily engaged in preparing for the Carnival to be held in the School auditorium Wednesday evening, Oct. 3. The Carnival will run from 7:30 to 10 o'clock, to be followed by two hours of dancing. It is a benefit enterprise to raise a fund for the Ute baseball team.

Congressman Edward T. Taylor and his secretary, Mr. High, visited the Agency and the Taylor Hospital Wednesday morning.

Supt. D. H. Wattson and E. J. Floyd left Monday for the eastern slope country, in connection with the cattle-buying program.

Raymond Murphy and Harold Turner spent Thursday and Friday at Blanding, Utah.

Miss Margaret J. Park returned Friday from a business trip to Denver.

The Emergency Conservation force received a new Chevrolet pickup from the factory Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Barnes, Miss Neoma James and Albert J. Wyatt were Durango visitors Sunday afternoon.

Edgar W. Garrett spent Monday on the Navajo Reservation, looking for school children.

NEW MAIL BOXES

Postmaster Sadie P. Aspaas has made a big improvement in the appearance of the front view of the equipment by installing a new bronze metal unit containing about 100 boxes of different dimension that can be opened by the renter without calling in a locksmith, "and," Nelle Daulton, efficient and obliging assistant postmaster explains to the patrons, "they lock automatically when the doors are closed."

With a Federal Government payroll of twelve thousand dollars per month—one hundred and forty-four thousand dollars per year—and one of the strongest, best managed and most secure interior banks in the State, this town has the basis for accomplishing many worthwhile things.

But we can't do anything else while we are all absorbed in the ridiculous pastime of throat-cutting.

Funeral services were held in the First Methodist Church in Durango, last Sunday morning for the late Arthur Helton, who met a tragic death in a mine near Silver City, N. M., Monday, Sept. 17, inst. Interment was in Greenmount Cemetery in the presence of the surviving members of the family, namely: Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Heiton, father and mother, Vernon Helton, a brother, of Ignacio, and Mrs. Goldie Harper, a sister, of Denver, and a large group of friends of the deceased and the family.

EDITORIAL

Herbert Hoover, erstwhile Downing Street stool pigeon in Washington in the White House four years, is said to have written a book. The "flash" was published in a "scab" national weekly. The Chieftain's editor has not bought a copy, and will not buy a copy, until he gets the prospectus. If, in his book, Hoover reviews some of the highly questionable incidents pertaining to his maladministration, such as: "Why I greeted the 'bon' marchers' with bayonets, bullets and tear gas!" and "Why I looked on and said not a word while airmail contractors were looting the United States Treasury to the tune of 36 millions of dollars!" and offer one sound reason Why the masses should renounce The New Deal and revert to The Dirty Steal!—then, but not until then, will we read the Hoover book; but The Chieftain will continue to tread the path of The New Deal—a path evolved and constructed upon humanitarian principles,—principles established by The Book of all books—The Holy Bible.

If the heads and tails of Colorado's new party—The Prohibition Party—measure up to required specifications, and they no doubt will, the party will poll, at least, a highly respectable vote in the November elections. The Democratic machine in Colorado occupies about the same position as the Republican machine does nationally. Both the Republican party and the Democratic party have been dead more than two years. It is the New Deal that is in the ascendancy. It is of course true that there still remain some Democrats that will vote for a skunk if he's wrapt up in the hide of an ass; and, likewise there are some republicans who will vote for anything that bears resemblance to an elephant. But the effluvium of both beasts is too rank for New Dealers who just will not go to the polls wearing a gas mask. Then, the Prohibition Party in Colorado has a chance to amount to much. Normally, Colorado is dry. Now that the people of the state are fully convinced that repealing the 48th amendment was a mistake, it is an opportune time for the Prohibition Party to muscle in and get a Normally, Colorado is dry. Now that the people of the state are fully convinced that repealing the 48th amendment was a mistake, it is an opportune time for the Prohibition Party to muscle in and get a strangle hold that would mean something. The liquor interests reckon without their hosts when they enumerate every red nose as being the insignia of a "wet" voter—the redder the nose the drier the man, because he knows the extent of bodily pain and mental torture that he suffered and endured to paint the tip of his proboscis a sickly hue of red.
